

ANNA LAUDEL

Ramazan Can

Born in Manisa in 1988, Ramazan Can graduated from Gazi University's Faculty of Education, Department of Fine Arts Education in 2011. In 2015, he earned a master's degree in the Painting Department of Gazi University's Institute of Fine Arts, and in 2023, he completed his Proficiency in Art in the same department. Currently, he is pursuing his Proficiency in Art in the Sculpture Department of Hacettepe University's Institute of Fine Arts while also working as an Instructor in the Painting Department at Ankara Hacı Bayram Veli University's Faculty of Fine Arts. He continues his work at his studio in Ankara.

In Ramazan Can's works, Shamanism and modern mysticism play a vital role. While frequently incorporating Anatolian motifs, he maintains a certain distance from them, merging these motifs with neo-expressionist elements and detaching them from their historical context. His work spans painting, collage, neon light installations, and sculpture, presenting content that is inherently non-political yet carries a narrative and commentary on history and modern society.
